HOUSE AGAIN KNOCKS OUT VETO

Passes Steel Revision Bill Over
President's Veto by Vote of 173 to 83

VETO MESSAGE INDUCED IMMEDIATE ACTION

Speaker Clark Got Busy and Ruled Veto Motion in Order;
Hour Given For Debate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—By a vote of 173 to 83, the house today passed the steel bill over President Taft's veto. Sixteen Progressive Republicans supported the Democrats.

MESSAGE ROUSED HOUSE AND ACTION BEGUN AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—In a special message to the House, President Taft vetoed the steel bill because "it would be disastrous to the iron and steel industry, and would be a revision of tariff without ample study and investigation."

After reading the President's message, Majority Leader Underwood demanded a vote on the passage of the bill over the veto. Minority Leader Mann objected. Speaker Clark overruled the objection and Congressman Mann appealed from the ruling, precipitating a roll call. The speaker's ruling was sustained by a vote of 241 to 9. Majority Leader Underwood renewed his motion to pass the bill over the President's veto. An hour's debate was allowed.

The President's veto message said that, despite Democratic statements that while the bill was designed to revise iron and steel products, only one-third of the revisions affected these products. The message asserted that fifty-nine allied industries would be directly affected. It declared:

"The measure makes a clear-cut issue between the protective policy and tariff for revenue only. Therefore, without further information, I am obliged to treat the bill as a revenue bill wherein the consideration of preserving an industry-maintaining tariff has little weight. There is nothing to show that the duties provided will equal the difference in cost of production here and abroad, and that the wages of working men will not be reduced by a measure avowedly discarding the principles of fair protection."

Harriman and 1904 Campaign Again at Fore

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Testifying before the campaign distribution committee of the Senate ex-Governor Odell of New York, Republican state campaign manager in 1904, declared that the records of that campaign had been destroyed. He said the campaign committee collected $200,000 besides the $50,000 that the national Republican committee assigned.

When asked in regard to the letter purporting to have been written by Edward Harriman, saying that President Roosevelt had requested him to go to Washington in 1904, Odell said:

"In October, 1904, Harriman invited me to lunch and showed me a letter from President Roosevelt asking him to come to Washington. I told Harriman I believed Roosevelt wanted to talk over the political conditions in New York, and consult him as to the financial situation. Harriman saw Roosevelt a few days later. I breakfasted with Harriman and learned that Roosevelt was uneasy as to the state ticket in New York."

Governor Odell testified that later he learned that the national committee had been unable to collect sufficient campaign funds to prosecute the work in New York, and that Harriman had raised $240,000, $200,000 being used in New York.

SCHOOL BOARD NOT IN ITS PLANS

Freeholders' Board Decides to Leave Management Schools to a Commissioner

ACTION AS YET IS ONLY TENTATIVE

Charter Framers Get Down to Hard Work, Meeting Three Times Weekly

If the tentative plan of the board of freeholders works out into a charter adopted by the people of Santa Ana, the board of education will cease to be separate bodies. The board of city trustees will be the school board, or the school board will be the board of city trustees, however you want to put it.

The freeholders' board, some meetings ago, adopted a commission of five for its plan of city government. Since then the board has continued its study of the Sacramento charter, which has been taken as a model. When the section dealing with the management and control of the schools was reached, the question came up as to whether or not the Sacramento charter should be followed on that point. Sacramento has the management of the schools vested in its commissioners, and one commissioner acts as head of the school department, just as another commissioner is head of the streets department and another head of the police department.

The matter was talked over Monday night, and a vote was taken with the result that the plan of doing away with a separate school board was adopted so far as that portion of the school management is concerned. City Superintendent of Schools Cranston has been invited to appear before the freeholders board next Friday evening for the purpose of talking over provisions concerning the schools.

The action concerning the school board, like all other actions taken by the freeholders board up to the present time, is tentative. Later discussion and argument may change the minds of the freeholders, in which case there is nothing to prevent an entire change of plan.

Commencing this week the charter makers are meeting three times a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. At tonight's meeting, Assistant Fire Chief G. E. Peters is to appear before the board in regard to proposed provisions for the management of the fire department. Dr. Ball, president of the public library board, and Miss Jeanette McFadden, librarian, are to be present to discuss phases of the management of the public library.

CORSICAN MAY BE BADLY INJURED

At Midnight Last Night was Still in Position as When Struck by Iceberg

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—Doubts as to the safety of the liner Corsican, which struck an iceberg, have been cleared by a wireless from Captain Cook, which says: "All's well. Fog lifted. Vessel proceeding."

Fear Was Felt This Morning
MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 14.—The wireless signal service questioned just before midnight last night, replied that the steamship Corsican and the C.P.R. liner Lake Champlain were still in the same position 120 miles east of Belle Isle. The ships had not stirred from this position since the Corsican struck the iceberg. Both report no danger.

Shipping experts begin to surmise that much more damage was actually done than was admitted by Capt. Cook in his message sent to the All-Can Line. It is pointed out that icebergs project under water and that a ship admittedly damaged above the water line after striking one stem on, must also be damaged much more beneath the water line unless the berg struck was of quite an exceptional formation. Also, if there is no danger, as reported, it seems strange that the ships could have made no progress, no matter how slow. Also it is difficult to understand why, if the Corsican is able to proceed to Liverpool, as stated in the captain's message, the Lake Champlain should find it necessary to stand by all day and identify herself in each report made with the injured ship.

GATES AROUSES PROGRESSIVES AT ORANGE

Speakers Declare Vote For
Evans, Anderson and Weisel
Is For Roosevelt

FINLEY SAYS ORANGE VOTES PROGRESSIVE

Enthusiastic Club Organized—Santa Anans Present at the Meeting

A determined, enthusiastic bunch of Roosevelt-Johnson boosters were organized into a Roosevelt-Johnson club at Orange last night, and the foundation laid for a lot of hard campaign work in favor of the nominations of S. C. Evans for congress, J. N. Anderson for state senator and H. V. Weisel for assemblyman. Those present had it impressed upon their minds that votes for those three men means votes for Roosevelt, and votes for their opponents, upon any pretext, means votes for Taft.

A masterly address was delivered by State Senator Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles. In unmistakable language, with the power of deep conviction and from first-hand information, for he was a delegate from this state, Gates pictured the infamy of the Chicago convention that nominated Taft. None of his hearers could have failed to be impressed with the wisdom pursued by the Progressives in breaking from the old boss-ridden party.

After the Orange band had dispensed excellent music, the crowd gathered in Campbell's Opera House. Among those on the platform were W. L. Grubb, Dr. Ball, S. J. Jackson, A. C. Black, John Beatty, J. N. Anderson and Steele Finley of Santa Ana, Fred West of Fullerton, H. V. Weisel of Anaheim, Joseph Pollock, A. R. Perand and the chairman, Elwood Coate of Orange.

Steele Finley, the first speaker, said that the County Roosevelt-Johnson League, of which he is chairman, proposes to form clubs all over the county to boost for Roosevelt and Johnson at every turn of the road.

"The Progressive movement is growing in this county," said he. "Last spring I was told that there was no use trying to do anything for Roosevelt at Orange, because it was a stand-pat town, that two men controlled its politics, and as those two men went so Orange went. But when the May primaries were held, Orange gave a majority for Roosevelt. The throngs upon which those two men are sitting are crumbling, and soon they will be looking for some other jobs."

Finley emphasized the necessity of sending Progressive delegates to the county convention so that the entire central committee will be Progressive.

"We don't want anything like we had when Johnson was running for governor," said he, "when a lot of the central committee were quietly working for Bell, the Democrat. I know what I am talking about because one of them who thought I was a Democrat because my brothers are Democrats explained the situation to me. 'I understand that the argument is being used that a vote for the stand-pat candidates does not mean a vote for Taft. LET ME TELL YOU RIGHT NOW THAT A VOTE FOR EVANS FOR CONGRESS, ANDERSON FOR THE SENATE AND WEISEL FOR THE ASSEMBLY IS A VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT AND A VOTE FOR KIRBY CHAPMAN AND RUTAN IS A VOTE FOR TAFT.'"

Not For Taft
Hans V. Weisel of Anaheim, introduced by Chairman Coate, gave an excellent review of the Taft administration, showing up its failures and Taft's shortcomings and weaknesses. He spoke of the Ballinger incident as "causing a stench in every corner of the land," yet Ballinger was white-washed by Taft.

"Then Mr. Taft sent to the senate as a document upon which he drew his conclusions a letter that was not written until after he had announced his conclusions. When a president will stoop to such as that it is time to act."

Weisel pictured the sufferings of women and children because of the attitude of the administration toward big business.

"I should be ashamed to look my wife or friends in the face were I to support a man like Taft," said he. "He has disgraced his office. He has served the money powers and has been a traitor to the people."

In closing Weisel said that he is under obligations to no one, and if elected to the legislature will be answerable to the people of this county only.

Anderson Speaks
J. N. Anderson was introduced as a man who had proven himself worthy and true as a legislator.

Anderson delivered an appeal to the women to stay by Roosevelt and Johnson for the reason that they are representing the cause of the women. "I will remember the inhuman treatment of women."

ASTOR HEIR BORN TO-DAY

Son of Young Widow of Titanic
Millionaire Victim May Cause Will to be Tested

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—A son, weighing seven and one-half pounds, was born this morning to Mrs. Astor, widow of John Jacob Astor, the multimillionaire, who was drowned in the wreck of the Titanic. The child has been named John Jacob Astor. Mother and baby are both reported as doing well.

The birth of a son to Mrs. Astor, it is believed, will complicate the disposition of the Astor fortune. Astor had left three millions as a provision for the expected heir to permit birth of whom on American soil, the Astors were returning on the Titanic. On account of the claims of the former wife, Ava Willing Astor, rumors are rife as to coming contests.

Mrs. Astor's father, William Force, has admitted that a contest has been considered but says no decision has been reached.

A curious crowd gathered at the Astor mansion early upon a report that the birth was expected this morning. At nine o'clock Dr. Cragin, the attending physician, emerged from the house and issued the following bulletin:

"At eight-fifteen a son was born to Mrs. Astor. Both are doing well. The boy is named John Jacob Astor. This was the mother's choice of the names suggested."

ARDENT SPORTSMEN

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 14.—More than 200 automobiles and about 100 horse drawn vehicles passed up Waterman canyon Monday, according to Road-overseer Henry Mastin at the lower toll house.

Many of the machines were loaded with hunters bound for Bear Valley to get in readiness for the opening of the deer season. All records for travel to the local mountain resorts were broken Monday.

speech at San Francisco Monday night as the most remarkable speech ever delivered on the Pacific Coast. The movement represented by Roosevelt and Johnson proposes to do in the United States what Johnson did in California; namely, kick big interests' bosses out of politics.

In the east the women are looking to California," said he. "They are looking to this great movement to do for them in Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and other states what the movement did for the women in California, that is, give women their rightful liberties."

Gates reviewed the fight in the legislature by which the suffrage amendment was submitted to the people. He said the women are everywhere rallying to the support of the Progressive movement.

"Why did we take the Chicago convention so hard?" asked he. "Because we refused to follow any bossed party after we had tasted the freedom of California."

Gates declared that a new party was necessary. He said that it was absolutely impossible to break the hold of the bosses by staying in the party. He showed that the convention was controlled by Southern delegates from states that have never cast a Republican electoral vote.

"We stood in the principle that the people should rule," said he. "We stand upon that principle today. That is what the Progressive party means. The east is trying to catch up with California. Back there they ask me how we did it. I tell them it was done by the direct primary by which we achieve our own emancipation."

ROGERS MADE BITTER TALK

Scored Darrow Prosecutors in Vitriolic Language—Told of Union Spies

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—District Attorney Fredericks was the object of denunciation by Defense Counsel Earl Rogers when he resumed his argument today in the Darrow trial. He then switched to an attack on the evidence of Bert Franklin, witness for the state. He produced a placard bearing the names of witnesses, who denied Franklin's testimony.

Returning to Fredericks, Rogers declared that the prosecutor entered into a "hideous pact with Schmidt, the man who hid the Times dynamite, and other John Roes and Jane Roes that they would not be prosecuted if they would keep out of Los Angeles county. The district attorney does not deny this."

Rogers' argument was vitriolic throughout. He was particularly bitter to Assistant District Attorney Ford, whom the defense accused of attourning a remark to the late Judge McNutt, associate Darrow counsel, that McNutt never made. Turning wrathfully on Ford, Rogers called him a "purient-minded, scaly-tongued person who would desecrate the grave of the dead." He characterized the evidence against Darrow as "vomiting of turkey buzzards."

Had Spies in Union

During the morning argument Rogers made the startling declaration that while he was connected with the Merchants & Manufacturers' Association he had spies in every union in Los Angeles. He said:

"When I was in the employ of this association I had a man in every union in Los Angeles, and had a stenographic report of every union meeting after it was held. I was working for a corporation of business men who wanted information. They got it."

NO CLEW TO INSTRUMENT

FATHER DENIES SEEING SON FOR SOME WEEKS

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 14.—Dr. J. H. Greenfield, father of Charles E. Greenfield, who has not been seen since the discovery of the murdered body of his stepdaughter, denied today that he had seen his son since his son's arrival in Southern California from Chicago several weeks ago.

Greenfield has not been seen here today, despite the reports that he had started for here. His father said his son was apparently brooding over personal troubles when he was last seen.

WILD GOOSE CHASE FOR TUSTIN SUSPECT

Local officers were notified just after noon today that a man who answered the description of Charles Greenfield, the Venice murderer, had been seen in Tustin. Constables Heard and Jackson, and Assistant District Attorney Koepsel at once left in an auto to investigate, but on reaching Tustin found that the story was without foundation. A man who arrived at the hotel in Tustin yesterday noon, giving his name as Haskell, had been thought by some of the attaches of the hotel to answer the description of Greenfield. Haskell went to work this morning on Hugh McDonald's place. When the officers learned that he had been in Tustin since noon yesterday they dropped the matter, as Greenfield was known to have been in Venice after that time. The officers did not even interview Haskell, but some men who had talked with him and who knew him previously told stories which absolved him absolutely.

CHILD SLAIN IN COLD BLOOD

C. E. Greenfield Believed to Have Murdered 8-Year-Old
Step-daughter at Venice

HAD CHILD AT SEASIDE 2 DAYS BEFORE TRAGEDY

Child's Mother Agonized—Receives Letter Intimating Suicide of Murderer

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Charles E. Greenfield, mother of the child victim of the Venice murder, received a letter today from her husband which the police believe establishes the fact that Greenfield murdered the baby and then suicided. The letter accuses the wife of breaking his heart, and says that he will be in the bottom of the ocean before night. He signed the letter: "Charles and Vivian; will soon be out of misery."

GREENFIELD SAID TO HAVE BEEN SEEN IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—Charles E. Greenfield, the person last seen with his eight-year-old stepdaughter, Vivian, whose body was found late yesterday afternoon in a rooming house at Venice with her throat cut, came to Los Angeles last evening on a Pacific Electric car, according to Conductor Hill, who bases his identification on published photographs. He was seen talking to a man in the Pacific Electric station. This man, who has not been identified, is the object of a determined police search. Greenfield's description has been wired to every coast city.

The murdered child was the daughter of Mrs. C. E. Greenfield of Los Angeles, who is wild with agony over the tragedy. The little one was taken to Venice Sunday by her step-father for an outing. They failed to return Sunday night, and Mrs. Greenfield waited in suspense until Tuesday evening before notifying the detectives of the missing couple.

The child's body, unidentified, had already been found in the Venice rooming house, and it was soon identified as Mrs. Greenfield's little daughter.

It has since developed that Greenfield and the child roomed at the Kost apartments at Venice on Sunday night and after romping all of Monday on the beach with the little girl, Greenfield again sought a rooming house. Refused at the Oceanic apartments where he registered as C. E. Shattuck, the man took the child to the Haley hotel and secured a room. At 4 o'clock the next day, the man and child not appearing, the room was entered and the child found dead. The man had disappeared. The child's throat was cut.

HAROLD POWELL ON CITRUS FRUIT PROFIT

Expert Files His Report on the Cost of Production in Orchards and Annual Yield Per Acre—Other Matters of Great Interest and Importance to Citrus Fruit Growers

In a comprehensive report on the citrus industry, commercial status, G. Harold Powell, secretary and manager of the Citrus Protective League, says:

Cost of Producing
Since making the last general report of the work of the league the investigation of the cost of producing citrus fruits has been completed and the data covering the cost of producing oranges has been published and distributed widely. The data include 271 ranches (803.9 acres) and show the cost of labor, including plowing and cultivating, pruning, irrigating, fumigating, spraying, spreading fertilizer, other tree care, superintendence and administration where paid for, and other labor expenses not segregated; also the cost of materials, including chemical fertilizer, barnyard manure, water and repairs, insurance and other incidental expenses, but excluding interest on the investment and depreciation on the groves, building, stock, machinery, tools, irrigation plant or other equipment. The average annual cultural cost of materials and labor per acre is $138.06.

Annual Yield Per Acre
The data include also the average yield of oranges per acre in packed boxes from 1906-07 to 1910-11 on about 2000 groves, covering from 16,000 to 26,000 acres per year. The average yield for the five-year period is 157.6 packed boxes per acre, making an annual average cultural cost of producing the fruit in the field of $0.8633 per packed box.

The data include also the cost of handling 4,186,985 boxes of oranges from the tree to the car in 1910-11. The cost of picking the fruit averaged $0.0771, hauling $0.0287, packing $0.3246, a total of $0.4304.

The summary of the cost of producing oranges in California, including transportation and marketing charges follows:

Per box.
Cultural cost	$0.8633
Cost of picking, hauling and packing	$0.4304
Cost of freight	.828
Average cost of refrigeration	.0789
Average cost of selling	.070
Total	$2.2706

The report has been widely analyzed by statisticians in America and abroad and a summary has been officially published by the United States. The data have awakened a good deal of study among our own growers. They have led to the adoption of a cost accounting system on many places, and they supply the facts that are needed in a comparison of the American with foreign citrus industries.

Frost Protection
The league has taken an active interest during the past six months in the question of protecting the citrus groves against severe cold and in the best manner of handling a crop that has been more or less injured by cold. It secured the co-operation of the United States department of agriculture, which made an exhaustive investigation of the methods of separating frosted fruit from sound fruit, especially by specific gravity methods. A frosted orange is usually lighter than a sound orange, but there is a wide difference in the specific gravity of frosted oranges. There are few liquids that can be used in the separation of frosted fruit from sound fruit. The distillate oils have been used by some shippers, but have proven unsafe in the hands of the average shipper on account of the injury to the flavor and to the keeping quality of fruit.

except when skillfully used.

The Use of Alcohol
Denatured alcohol is also used, but under the internal revenue laws and regulations which prevent the redistillation of the alcohol except when used in the process of manufacture, it is not possible to employ it on a large scale. The alcohol changes in specific gravity after having been used a short time and without redistillation is useless for this purpose. The league is endeavoring to have the regulations modified so as to permit of the practical use of alcohol.

Of greater value to the industry is the protection of groves against injury from cold weather. With a view to stimulating a greater interest in the question, a convention was held at Pomona in May, at which the subject was discussed by federal and state officials and by practical growers. A large number of people were in attendance and as a result of these discussions preparation is being made on a large scale to protect the crop against cold weather. The league will promote this movement in every way possible and has appointed a committee to draft a statement showing the methods by which a community can best handle the frost protection problem.

Citrus By-products
The league has co-operated actively with the officials in charge of the government citrus by-product laboratory which has been established in Los Angeles to study the methods of utilizing the low grades of oranges and lemons and with the officials who have commenced a preliminary study of the nutrition troubles in citrus groves. It has also placed the needs of the industry before the officials of the state university with a view to securing the co-operation of the state in building up a corps of special investigators who will devote their entire time to the study of the difficulties that confront the citrus fruit grower and shipper. The league believes it a wise state policy to increase the appropriations for agricultural investigations. One of the leading factors in the great progress of American agriculture in the present generation is the work of the state and federal institutions where the investigation of the principles and practices of production, of the handling of farm products and in later years of their distribution and sale has led to an agricultural development such as no other country has seen. No other agricultural industry is as highly developed as the citrus industry, none has more difficult problems of culture and fruit handling to meet, and none would receive more benefit from a permanently established citrus institution. On account of its organized condition no other industry is in a position to utilize the results of such work more efficiently than the orange and lemon growers of California.

History of the Lemon Rate Case
The lemon rate case has passed through so many different stages, a brief statement of its history will be helpful to an understanding of the question. On November 27, 1909, the Arlington Heights Fruit Exchange and others filed a joint complaint before the Interstate Commerce Commission against the railroads, alleging that the carload rate of $1.15 per hundred pounds on oranges and lemons from California to the east was unjust and unreasonable. A vast amount of evidence was taken and a full hearing was had by the commission.

On June 11, 1910, the commission found that the rate of $1.15 on lemons was unreasonable, that it ought not to exceed $1.00 per hundred pounds and ordered accordingly. It failed to find that the $1.15 rate per hundred pounds on oranges was unreasonable.

In September, 1910, the railroads filed a joint bill of complaint in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Kansas, in which the order of the commission reducing the rate on lemons was attacked. They alleged that the order of the commission was in excess of the power of the commission and was therefore null and void, because (1) it was based upon the assumed authority of the commission to protect lemon growers of Sicily; (2) in seeking to establish a blanket rate throughout the United States and Canada, east of the Rockies; (3) in that it deprived the railroads of a reasonable and just compensation for their service; and (4) that the rate established by the commission was confiscatory.

Against Foreign Competition
A preliminary injunction was granted by the circuit court on February 16, 1911, the case was transferred to the United States commerce court, where it was argued on final hearing and presented to the court. On October 5, 1911, the commerce court filed its opinion holding the order of the commission null and void. The court took the position that the commission acted on the assumption "that it had the power and the right, if not the duty, so to adjust railroad rates as would give to the American industry protection against foreign competition," and on this ground granted a permanent injunction, restraining the enforcement of the order, the court announcing that its order was without prejudice to a reopening and reconsideration by the commission of the original proceedings.

On November 15, 1911, the Interstate Commerce Commission cancelled its former order and reopened and reheard the case. It took a large amount of additional testimony, confining the hearing exclusively to the reasonableness of the rate, the carriers agreeing not to contest an order on the ground that it established a blanket rate. The commission again found that the rate of $1.15 was unreasonable and unjust and ordered the railroads to establish a rate not to exceed $1.00 per hundred pounds not later than February 15, 1912. The commission permitted the carriers to fix such minima in their tariffs as will require the loading of cars to their full capacity not exceeding two tiers in height, when collapsible bunker cars are present for loading with the bunkers thrown up.

Awaits Court Decision
Following the second order of the commission the railroads in February, 1912, filed a petition for injunction with the United States commerce court and moved for a preliminary injunction and a suspension of the commission's order. The motion for a preliminary injunction was denied by the court and the $1.00 rate became effective February 15, 1912. In the petition for the injunction before the court the carriers averred that the order of the commission fixing the rate of $1.00 was put into effect arbitrarily and unjustly fixed as to be contrary to the evidence to support it, and that if the rate of $1.00 were put into effect it would result in confiscation of their property. Testimony on this issue was taken by Judge Mack of the United States commerce court in Los Angeles, March 21 to 25, 1912, the league being represented in each of these proceedings by Mr. A. F. Call.

The lemon rate case has therefore now been argued before the United States commerce court and the industry awaits the decision of the court as to whether the $1.00 rate which is now in force is confiscatory and whether this rate was fixed without sufficient evidence to support it.

The Northwest Lemon Rate Case
On December 9, 1912, the railroads advanced the rate on lemons from points in California to the territory in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, to certain points in North Dakota and South Dakota, and to other points similarly located, from $1.00 to $1.15 per hundred pounds, this territory not being included in the transcontinental tariff which was issued in the lemon rate case just described. The league requested the commission to suspend the operation of this tariff. On February 26, 1913, the commission took the testimony of the railroads and the shippers and on March 11, 1913, rendered a decision and found that the proposed advance in the lemon rate from $1.00 to $1.15 had not been justified by the carriers. The $1.00 rate was found to be reasonable and was prescribed by the commission.

I haven't the least notion how much necessary, but we want to get with as little money as possible desire is to confine the campaign vancing the rate on lemons in carload lots from California points to Spokane from $1.00 to $1.15 per hundred pounds. The Spokane rate was not carried in the northwestern tariff previously described. The league requested the commission to suspend the operation of this tariff, which the commission did. On June 21, 1912, testimony was taken in Los Angeles before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clarke. The case will be set for final argument before the commission at some later date.

History of the Precooling Case
The precooling case has also passed through a tortuous history. On January 14, 1911, the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered the transcontinental railroads to desist from charging $3.00 a car for oranges transported in carloads from Southern California to points designated in T. P. S. east-bound tariffs No. 3-1 and No. 7-8 and further ordered the railroads to maintain a charge not to exceed $1.50 a car when the fruit was pre-cooled and pre-cooled by the shippers and not re-cooled in transit. After this decision the rule authorizing the pre-cooling and pre-icing privileges was cancelled by the railroads by withdrawing the tariffs that provided these rights. The Interstate Commerce Commission several times suspended these cancellations at the request of the league, and in May, 1911, the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission was attacked by the railroads before the commerce court on the ground that the shippers have no legal right to pre-ice the cars and also that the rate of $7.50 was confiscatory. The court held that the question of the legality of pre-icing had not been decided by the commission, and on May 29, 1911, pressing an opinion without the case established. On March 20, 1912, the pre-icing suspension case was argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission and on April 8, 1912, the commission rendered a decision sustaining the $7.50 rate and ordered that the tariffs and supplements involved should continue in effect and that the rate should not exceed $7.50 per car. On May 17, 1912, the railroads made application before the commerce court for a temporary restraining order, but this application was denied by the court. The $7.50 rate therefore stands as a legal rate at the present time.

Saves Great Sum Annually
As a result of these various rate cases the shippers of lemons are now paying $1.00 per hundred pounds in the northwestern territory, and in the territories embraced in the transcontinental tariffs referred to. This reduction from $1.15 to $1.00 per hundred pounds is a saving of at least $200,000 a year to the industry. The rate of $1.50 per car on pre-cooled and pre-iced fruit also stands, the industry having been successful in its contention in both of these cases. In addition to the lowering of the rate, the shippers have paid through the league to the credit of a surety company approximately $372,000.00, the amount representing 15 cents per hundred pounds on the weight charged by the railroads on lemons shipped in the territory embraced in the advance from December 5, 1909, to November 20, 1911. This money will be held until the case is finally settled, the commission having ordered reparation in connection with all shipments during the period that the rate was undetermined. In this connection it should be recalled that through the efforts of the league the freight rate on oranges was reduced by the railroads in 1907 from $1.25 to $1.15, or 10 cents per hundred pounds. This rate became effective February 26, 1907, since when it has saved the shipper about $30.00 per car. The gain to the industry from February 26, 1907, to July 31, 1912, from this reduction has been about $4,675,000.00.

The Misbranding of Varieties
In order that the industry may be fully posted it seems advisable to call attention to the fact that it is a violation of the federal food and drugs act to ship citrus fruits under wrong varietal names. The deliberate misbranding of varieties seldom occurs in the California citrus industry. Occasionally a shipper may attempt to deceive the buyer by shipping seedlings or Mediterranean Sweets under the name "Early Valencia." The object of this deception is to secure a Valencia price for an inferior article. The United States department of agriculture has already brought a similar case and has successfully prosecuted it. (U. S. department of agriculture, food and drugs division No. 2517, issued July 15, 1911, misbranding of "pineapple" oranges.)

In this case a Florida shipper shipped from the state of Florida into the state of Louisiana a consignment of 355 boxes of oranges labeled on one end of each box "Pineapple oranges," with an additional qualifying label reading "Golden Russet" on about one-half of the shipment, and "Bright" on the other half. It was shown by the United States department of agriculture that the oranges in question were not pineapple oranges, but consisted of inferior varieties. The shipment was seized and a libel suit filed in the district court of the United States for said district against this shipment, the libel alleging that the product was misbranded because the boxes did not contain the variety designated on the box.

When the court was fully informed it issued its decree finding that the product was misbranded as alleged and condemned and forfeited to the use of the United States. With this decree that it should be released to the claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution and delivery of a bond in the sum of $500, this on condition that said oranges should not be sold or otherwise disposed of contrary to law. The costs were paid and the bond furnished in accordance with the terms of the decree and the product was released.

It will rent for a good interest. It is a good place to live. It is a good place to rent. It is a good place to sell. But it is a better place to keep than anything of the kind in the city. ## INDIAN LANDS AT VANISHING POINT

U. S. Indian Service Official Foresees End of Reservations and Seclusion of Red Men

Los Angeles Examiner: By interesting the Indians individually in agriculture and stock raising and by bringing them closer in touch with the white men, the government is making such rapid progress in improving their modes of life that within the next 15 or 20 years, the last Indian reservation in the United States will have disappeared.

This is an opinion expressed by John J. Granville, acting chief engineer of the United States Indian Service, of Los Angeles, who is directing irrigation projects on various reservations and has had much chance to study the effect of the present government policy as regards the Indians.

Of recent years the policy of the government has been gradually to work away from the old plan of segregating the Indians, and instead of allowing them to be secluded, a constant effort has been made to let them come in contact with white farmers in such a way as to inspire them with individual effort.

In line with this policy, the Indians have been allotted lands individually, and portions of reservations have been opened to cultivation by white people who have had much to do with the Indians in their work.

"The Indians of the southwest are the only ones which take kindly to agriculture," declared Mr. Granville. "Stock raising is more to the taste of the Indians than farming, but an effort is being made to so combine the two that the Indians will profit."

The plan of the government is to provide each Indian with a common school education and to keep a protective influence over him, even after reservations have passed out of existence.

VETERANS IN 1912 REUNION

Men Who Fought Nation's Battles in the '60s Assemble at Huntington Beach

With the flag for which they fought flying from hundreds of homes, and from tents and flagstaffs at the Tent City, the twenty-fifth annual encampment of the Southern California Veterans' Association opened yesterday at Huntington Beach with nearly 1000 veterans and members of their Woman's Relief Corps encamped, says the Los Angeles Times.

The firing of the morning gun at sunrise awakened men and women whose increasing years give evidence that this may be the last of these annual outings, so eagerly anticipated as occasions when old comrades meet again and tell over the stories of the great struggle of fifty years ago. Many of those seen here last year have since joined thousands of their comrades who on tented field and on blood-drenched battle grounds braved death only to yield to its call at last.

Ten-Day Encampment
Commander Jason J. Shepard of Pasadena this year presides over the encampment, and his adjutant, R. W. Heffner, of Los Angeles and Quartermaster A. B. Paul of Santa Ana, assist in caring for the needs of the campers. W. E. Herendeen of Los Angeles, master of entertainment, will see that the veterans and their womenfolk are amused during the ten days' outing. Each evening some post and corps will give an entertainment in the Auditorium at the Tent City grounds, the first, this evening, being supplied by the Grand Army organizations of Huntington Beach.

Not the least of the amusements enjoyed by the veterans is the dance which nightly, and sometimes in the afternoons, is held on a platform built for the purpose at the camp grounds. Men and women who are near the three-score-and-ten mark may be seen enjoying the old-time dances which served to give pleasure to their boyhood and girlhood.

At 2 o'clock every afternoon the "camp fire" will be held and the veterans who have new, or even old, stories to tell of their exploits in the Civil War, will occupy the limelight.

Next Saturday morning there will be the bean dinner, dear to the heart of every old soldier, when Mrs. Mary Dunning of Los Angeles, known far and wide in Southern California Grand Army circles as "Our Mary," will preside and luscious dishes of baked beans, pies and cakes, served in true army style in wooden dishes, or in no dishes at all, will regale the hungry soldiers. It is the event of every encampment and preparations for it actually occupy the women of the relief corps for many months before, during which time pennies and nickels are gathered by them to buy the ingredients of the dinner.

The formal flag-raising will occur this morning so that tardy arrivals will have an opportunity to be present when the folds of Old Glory are unfurled by becoming ceremonies.

Captain A. H. Thomas of Huntington Beach was named by Commander Shepard yesterday as officer of the day. The first dress parade was held in the afternoon.

First Entertainment
The entertainment in the Auditorium last night was given by Huntington Beach post and corps and was thoroughly enjoyed by an immense audience, which filled every part of the big building. Commander Shepard responded to the welcoming address of Mayor Seely and exhibited for first use a gavel presented to him by the Pasadena Board of Trade last Monday in honor of his being chosen commander of the Southern California Veterans' Association.

The entertainment tomorrow evening will be given by Old colored camp of Veterans of the Spanish War. It is expected that it will be one of the best of the encampment.

TOOK HIS SHOTGUN AWAY FROM HIM

Artesia News: Tuesday night Perry Smith of East Orange street caught two gangs of boys stealing watermelons from his fine patch, and while he captured one of each party, he released the other after a serious talk. Later, while watching again, he saw two more thieves entering the patch, and thinking it was more youngsters, he called a halt, and found instead that he had cornered two choloos. They knocked him down, took his shotgun away from him and skipped out. He was unable to identify them, but he understood that he has sworn out a search warrant and Constable Freeman is trying to find the gun. Mr. Smith is undecided yet whether to arrest the boys or not, but it is to be hoped that next time he will use the gun before the other fellow gets the chance.

ACTION WAS DEFERRED

School Board to Choose Superintendent For New Building
Tomorrow Night

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night there were several applications for the positions of superintendent of construction on the new grammar school, on which work has just been started. The matter was discussed at some length, but it was decided to defer action until another meeting to be held tomorrow evening, when a superintendent will be selected. Kennedy, the man whom architect Sturges had decided on to be in charge of the building of the new schools, was not a candidate.

The board decided last night to adhere to the specifications in the matter of roofing for the new school. These call for cement shingles. As the building is to be in mission style some of those interested had favored tile roofing, and a few days ago four members of the board made a trip to Los Angeles to inspect various school buildings equipped with the two styles. As a result of their inspection it was decided to adhere to the shingles.

Several new teachers were elected for the coming school year. Miss Jeanette Phillips, one of the grammar school teachers, who tendered her resignation some time ago, has decided to remain here, and was re-elected. Other grammar school teachers elected were Mrs. Eva E. Bruce, Miss Elizabeth Bashore and Mrs. J. R. Trebb.

William Morris was elected janitor of the Third street school.

OLD NEWPORT NEWS BUDGET

OLD NEWPORT, Aug. 14.—The beet industry has opened up in earnest. Several dumps were in operation last week, the others not until this week. As each dump requires the services of four or five men, and there being a dump to every few miles on the railroads, there is no small army of men employed in this feature of the industry alone.

Each load must be weighed; samples taken, and weighed; waste material caught and weighed; the empty wagon weighed, and each man must be accredited with these different weights.

Care must be taken to prevent the dumping of wagon, horses and all into the car. Many horses and mules are used for the hauling of the loads, as each wagon must have at least four, and sometimes eight are used when two wagons are joined together, thus saving the expense of a second driver. Quite a few ranchers are busy taking out beets now while the others will wait until later, giving the beets a longer time to completely develop. The school house is being put into good condition for the opening of school. Paint is being applied inside and out and various other improvements will be made.

The sugar factory on South Main street started up on Monday and the water used for washing the beets will be utilized by the various ranches for irrigating the alfalfa. Although the alfalfa is holding its own this dry year, water or rain would vastly improve its output.

The last application of oil on the roads has put them into good condition as is proved by the numerous automobiles which daily go through here. Formerly a dense cloud of dust would sail along in their wake but now the air is clear and the various housewives along the way are greatly rejoicing.

Doc Ellis' fine new barn is undergoing a transformation in the way of a coat of red paint. The barn is very roomy and will accommodate quite a few head of stock.

Mrs. Robert McClain can take a renewed interest in house work as her home is being repaired and repainted inside, and made convenient and comfortable.

The campers, Mr. Eugene Grisot, Clare McClintock, Walter Raymond and Charles McClain, returned late Friday night and remained at Mr. Grisot's until morning, when each reported to his own home. They all report ment accorded the women who in 1905 were seeking to get a woman's suffrage amendment submitted to the people," said he. "The old machine politicians simply laughed at them. I was one of the few men in that legislature who fought for the suffrage cause."

"If it were not for the fact that we would not have woman's suffrage here today. And yet there are some women who think of voting for Taft. The Progressive party in the nation stands for equal rights for women at the polls, and women in the east are looking to California."

Anderson stated that in his opinion Riverside county will go three to one for the Roosevelt candidates, Imperial county four to one and Orange county two and a half to one.

Reviews Convention
Lee C. Gates was introduced as one of the delegates who attended the convention at which Taft was nominated.

"If you have not attended a national convention, been engaged as a Buffalo Bill rough rider or been one of a lynching party, you have missed some of the high spots of life," said he. "I have experienced a national convention, but not the others."

He characterized Gov. Johnson's speech at San Francisco Monday night as the most remarkable speech ever delivered on the Pacific Coast. The movement represented by Roosevelt and Johnson proposes to do in the United States what Johnson did in California; namely, kick big interests' bosses out of politics.

"In the east the women are looking to California," said he. "They are looking to this great movement to do for them in Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and other states what the movement did for the women in California, that is, give women their rightful liberties."

Gates reviewed the fight in the legislature by which the suffrage amendment was submitted to the people. He said the women are everywhere rallying to the support of the Progressive movement.

"Why did we take the Chicago convention so hard?" asked he. "Because we refused to follow any bossed party after we had tasted the freedom of California."

Gates declared that a new party was necessary. He said that it was absolutely impossible to break the hold of the bosses by staying in the party. He showed that the convention was controlled by Southern delegates from states that have never cast a Republican electoral vote.

"We stood in the principle that the people should rule," said he. "We stand upon that principle today. That is what the Progressive party means. The east is trying to catch up with California. Back there they ask me how we did it. I tell them it was done by the direct primary by which we achieve our own emancipation."

MURDER BY MOTOR CARS

Every day it takes place—murder by motor car.

Some days a dozen murders by this new and deadly means take place in as many parts of the country.

It is a shocking thing.

It calls upon a driver of a car to take thought lest he join the ranks of killers tomorrow.

The man who runs fifteen miles an hour where he should run only ten, is a potential homicide.

If he runs 25 miles an hour except under exceptional conditions, he is a potential homicide.

He is a potential homicide if he drives any car anywhere at a speed which would prevent him from stopping in time to prevent the striking of any moving vehicle or person emerging from any cover anywhere along the road.

This is the only rule which a man can adopt to save himself from possible homicide.

If it be a city street, the driver is a potential killer if he drives fast enough to make a collision even remotely possible. If it is at a crossing he is guilty if he drives so that any foot passenger can possibly get under the wheel before he can stop. He cannot place any of the blame on others—unless his own car is absolutely under control. He must be able always to prevent his own speed from injuring anyone.

If there are weeds by the roadside, he must expect that a child will suddenly step from them into the track. He must go so slow that he can stop and save that child. If it is a crossroad even in the most deserted country, he must expect either a pedestrian on a horse-drawn vehicle, or another motor car to emerge from the trees just as his car reaches the crossing. He is a criminal if he guesses that the way is clear and dashes across. He is a criminal unless he knows.

In other words, the driver of a motor car is a criminal unless he so drives that a would-be suicide, seeking self-destruction, would always fail to find it under his wheels.

This is a strict rule, a doctrine of constraining every chance against the motorist—but it is the only just one, the only safe one.

The law gives Tom, Dick and Harry the right to drive the most powerful projectile of modern times through crowds and along roads. Tom, Dick and Harry cannot complain if the law and public sentiment hold them guilty of homicide if they fail in making absolutely sure that even the most careless user of the highway is saved from death and injury.

The foregoing editorial from the Los Angeles Record is published at the request of D. Edson Smith. It is, of course, too harsh and sensational, puts the blame too strongly on the autoist; and yet there is enough justice and truth in it to warrant its publication as a warning to thoughtless and reckless drivers.

On the same theory and argument street cars and horse-drawn vehicles should be driven in the same way that is demanded for autos; and pedestrians and others or subject to injury from collision should be required to proceed upon the theory that at every crossing or corner there is danger. Of course children cannot be held responsible for carelessness in exposing themselves, but theoretically at least parents are supposed to see that children are not exposed to the dangers of the highway.

Pushed to its farthest conclusion the argument of the Record would require that printing presses and all other machinery should be run at a speed low enough to enable the operator to stop it in time to prevent any accident to himself or others assisting him or at work in the vicinity.

We are not making an argument on behalf of thoughtless or careless or reckless drivers or operators, whether the question be related to horses or autos or railways or machinery. For our part we would prefer to see the Record's standard and rule prevail at every point of contact. But in discussing this question it is necessary to do so in the light of modern conditions which involve the whole complex and rapid system of social life and progress. In this view it would appear to be useless to have automobiles if they cannot be driven faster than a horse can go, or to have horses if they cannot be driven faster than a man can walk, or machinery if it cannot be operated so as to produce rapidly and so on. And on the other hand all these things are useless if they cannot be enjoyed or made profitable without being a menace to human life. So there you are.

But after all is said and done there is no question but what there is entirely too much thoughtless, careless and even reckless driving of automobiles. Nearly all auto drivers are guilty in some measure or respect; not consciously, perhaps, but nevertheless at fault; and all should be duly admonished.

Since the above was written some tests have been made and several auto drivers have been interviewed, with the resultant conclusion that the demands of the Record article as to control can be met at least approximately without unreasonable restriction of speed. That is to say, careful and competent drivers can travel with all reasonable speed—say from 8 to 20 miles an hour, according to road conditions—and yet have the control necessary to safety.

On this subject the Los Angeles Express of yesterday, under the heading, "Help the Poor Pedestrian," says:

"The police department is again bending its energies in the direction of violators of the traffic ordinances not only with respect to reckless driving by automobile chauffeurs, but also by wagon drivers. This is a needed work, whose success will be appreciated by the public. The streets of Los Angeles are notoriously unsafe for pedestrians. As the police say, drivers of autos and wagons appear to think the traffic ordinances are only applicable in the congested districts downtown, to be violated whenever a policeman is not in sight, and that in other parts of the city they can go as they please. This belief has resulted in unsafe streets."

"One cause of disaster in the downtown streets is the rush of vehicles when an open signal is given. Pedestrians will start to cross, say, the south and east corners of a street, starting with a closed signal south; before he is half way across the east side the open signal is given for east and he is caught in a rush of street cars, autos, motorcycles and wagons, and he is grateful, indeed, if he or she comes out of it alive. Drivers should be taught that an open signal does not mean permission to open all valves and speed across at top-notch."

THE WAY TO GLORY

Yea, let all good things await Him who cares not to be great.

But as he saves or serves the state, Not once or twice in our rough island story.

The path of duty was the way to glory.

He that walks it, only thirsting For the right, and learns to deaden Love of self, before his journey closes He shall find the stubborn thistle bursting.

Into glossy purples which outbredden All voluptuous garden roses.

Not once or twice in our fair island story.

The path of duty was the way to glory.

W. A. HUFFWHY PROGRESSIVE VICTORY IS ABSOLUTELY ASSURED

FROM THE FRESNO REPUBLICAN

There is just one rock upon which a political party may be founded, the heartfelt desire of a group of citizens for united action in accomplishing a political purpose. With this alone, though all other things be lacking, success will come, sooner or later. Leaders will be found, organization effected, publicity attained, new converts brought into the field as needed, and with a righteous cause, success will be assured, no matter what may be in the way.

On the other hand, without this heartfelt desire for united political action to accomplish a definite purpose, no other advantages will avail. Able leaders will be useless, organization will fade away, supporters will cease to support except those few who can be bought with favors, and then in the nature of things cannot be enough to give success in a democracy.

This is why the Progressives of the United States are assured today of success in their cause. It is not alone because they have remarkable leaders. It is merely because they have, in the last two months, perfected a remarkable organization. It is not only that they have the evidence of the series of primary elections in every part of the country during the last year to indicate that the voters are not with the machine Republican organization, nor yet with the Democratic party. It is because they have in themselves the confidence that the people of this country, irrespective of leaders, irrespective of past political events, irrespective of any party allegiance which in the past has filled their political desires, are desirous of uniting in an organization whose sole purpose is the placing in the statute books of the principles which have come to be known as "progressive" and realize that this can be accomplished alone through an organization formed for this purpose and led with these objects clearly in view.

At no time in the last twenty years have the people of the country been satisfied with their political leadership. This was because it was something handed down to them, and, no matter how glorious its political history, perverted to the selfish purposes of those into whose hands it has fallen. The people of the United States revere the memory of Jefferson, but they laugh when they think of the Murphys and the Taggarts who rise up and claim allegiance to themselves because they call themselves by the name of Jeffersonian Democrat. The people of the United States love the memory of Lincoln, but they are indignant when the Cannons and the Aldriches demand political subservience to themselves in their political trickery in the name of the Emancipator. For these men to talk of Jefferson and Lincoln is to laugh. In their day Jefferson and Lincoln worked for the honor of their compatriots. In these days, those who claim to have fallen to the help of Jefferson and Lincoln intrigue for office without taking the trouble to put themselves out for the good of their country to the extent of finding out what the people want.

For twenty years the people have been rebelling against the political order of things, without available means of correcting them. They have depended upon their parties, and the party leaders have only pretended to attempt to solve the difficulties. Now, weary of old partisanship, they are forming a new party, which shall express no truths that are past, but truths that are present. Which shall appeal not to the prejudices which we ascribe to our grandfathers, (the most of them had no such prejudices) but shall express the genuine and irresistible purpose of the present. This is the assurance of victory.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—By a vote of 14 to 46, the Senate rejected La Follette's tariff revision bills, proposed as a substitute for the House measure.

Night school opening this week. (Orange County Business College.)

An elaborate program of entertainment is planned for all three days. The regatta and night carnival will be a prominent feature. The barge, scull and single oar races in which all of the boating clubs in the state are invited to compete, will be under the auspices of the Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen and will, of course, be subject to their rules. There will also be events for three classes of motorboats, including a long distance Sacramento-to-Stockton race for speed boats open to any owner in the state. Valuable cups and trophies and large cash prizes are offered for the winners of the various events. The local Chinese and Japanese will supply features to the Sunday afternoon and evening programs on Stockton Channel and will add a touch of oriental splendor to the decorated launch parade at night.

A big parade for automobiles of all classes will be a feature Sunday evening.

Admission Day morning (Monday), the great parade of Native Sons and Daughters will cap the climax of the three-day celebration on Stockton Channel. W. E. O'Connor estimates that his procession will be four miles long. Nearly a score of brass bands and two score of drum corps will participate in the parade. There will also be floats and historical features. Joaquin Parlor, No. 5, Native Daughters of this city, will spend $1000 alone for parade features. They will have twenty white chariots each drawn by two white horses driven tandem style. Each chariot will carry five Native Daughters dressed in white. Stockton Parlor No. 7 has a live bear, captured as a cub by Ed Alders three years ago in the Sierras, for a mascot.

Monday afternoon a big coast championship track and field meet under the auspices of the Pacific Athletic Association, will be held. Some of the California athletes who appeared in the Olympic games at Stockholm will participate and it is possible that some new official world's records may be established.

Lindsey, Colorado state chairman; Medill McCormick, Illinois state chairman; Francis W. Briard, former appraiser of the port of New York, and O. K. Davis, the Progressive publicity manager.

George Emlen Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who have been handling the Colonel's correspondence, were also present. Last night's meeting was for the purpose of taking stock of the political situation, as it has altered since the convention, and of formulating campaign plans in states where a third ticket will be presented.

FOR MISS McGRORY

Charming Visitor From Illinois
W. A. Zimmerman Home

Last night the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Zimmerman on North Main street was the scene of a very happy gathering given in honor of their charming niece, Miss Josephine McGrory, who departs for her home in Quincy, Ill., tomorrow.

About thirty members of the Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church were present, also their leader, Mrs. J. G. Morrow, and Mr. Morrow, teacher of the same church, and a most merry time resulted from the gathering together of so many congenial people. The Philathea girls feel very much at home at the Zimmerman residence as they have enjoyed the hospitality of its owners many times during the past year.

The spacious rooms were particularly charming last evening, beautiful pink lilies and ferns being used in a color scheme of pink and green. The same tints prevailed in the delicious refreshments that were served by the gracious hostess, Mrs. Zimmerman, and the young ladies assisting her, Misses Mary Shrewsbury, Hazel Rowley and Nancy Elder.

Mr. Zimmerman presided at the handsome punch bowl in the attractive breakfast room where delectable pink fruit punch was served during the evening. With music and entertainment, the hours passed all too quickly.

Miss McGrory, the complimented guest of the occasion, is a girl of vivacity and beauty and has not only been greatly admired here for these qualities but for her charm of manner which has won her many friends during her ten months' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Zimmerman. Her departure will be greatly mourned by the young set of Santa Ana society and many of the friends she has made will accompany her to the train tomorrow to bid her God speed and good-bye.

Splendid Auto Trip
Mr. F. L. Austin, wife and daughter Helen, accompanied by Mr. Holmes, a friend who is visiting them from the east, made up an automobile party which went to San Diego last Thursday, returning Monday night. Miss Helen remained over visiting friends.

Mr. Austin states that he had never enjoyed a trip more than this one. On the entire trip of over five hundred miles he did not have a bit of trouble with his machine. The roads were excellent and they greatly appreciated all the points of interest at San Diego. Mr. Austin also said that while in San Diego he met some members of the San Diego Auto Club. They were anxious for the Santa Ana autoists to arrange a run to San Diego and he assured Mr. Austin that if such a run should be made the Santa Anas would be shown an excellent time in San Diego.

He Is Proud of Kansas
S. A. Milligan, for twenty-three years a resident of Kansas, but who has lived in Santa Ana for the last six years, is still proud of his home state, as are a good many other people from Kansas who now live here. Mr. Milligan brought in the following newspaper clipping, which is self-explanatory:

Kansas Leads
"Kansas has been criticized in many quarters, but here are some facts very much in her favor. 'There are 500,000 boys in Kansas, over school age, who have never seen a saloon. 'Out of 105 counties in the state 90 have not a single tenant in poor houses, and 52 counties do not even own a poor farm. 'There are 61 counties without an inmate in their jails, 17 counties without jails, and there are 87 counties that last year did not send an inmate to the insane asylum. 'Kansas has 900 newspapers that will not take a liquor advertisement. 'The ratio of illiteracy is the lowest of any state in the Union, and the farmers of that state own 10,000 automobiles, and the state is the second richest in the Union.—Mankato, Minn., Journal.

Took First Place
Miss Allie Hallett Taylor has received the gratifying news that she took first place in oral expression and physical training in an examination recently taken before the Los Angeles board of education, the class numbering nearly 200. Following her success, Miss Taylor received an offer to teach her specialties in one of the large city schools. She spent today in Los Angeles where she was asked to go to give the offer serious consideration.

Miss Taylor's many friends here rejoice with her over the high standing she achieved in her examination, and the immediate flattering offer made to her. She amply deserves success as she is constantly striving for the highest proficiency in her chosen lines of work, giving earnest and conscientious attention to every phase of her profession.

Off to Detroit
Miss Beattie McCord and Miss Mary Hanson left yesterday for Detroit Normal training school at Thomas, where they will enter for a domestic training course. The school does not open until Aug. 30, but the intervening time, or a part of it at least, will be spent by the young ladies in stops on the way. Today they spent in San Francisco, where they were met by Olin McCord, who is in the north to enter Berkeley University. The girls will stop at Denver, Colo., and other points en route.

Entertained Girl Friends
Miss Lula Finley who is about to take an extended trip with her brother, A. G. Finley, through the West to the eastern coast, visiting New York and other metropolitan points, last night entertained twenty-four young ladies of the United Presbyterian church. The affair was of the nature of a sewing party, and took place at her home on French street. The evening was spent in fancy work and conversation. As the young ladies chatted over their pretty sewing work, amidst the pleasant surroundings, the scene presented was an animated one. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess before her guests departed.

Arrangements for transportation are being made by the committee in charge both by rail and by auto, and ample opportunity will be afforded the members to attend. A special car will probably be attached to the Santa Fe train leaving Santa Ana at 10:19 a.m. and arriving at Serra at 11:05. The train will pick up passengers at Fullerton, Anaheim and Orange. On the return trip the train will leave Serra shortly before 9 o'clock in the evening, arriving at Santa Ana at 9:20.

Arrangements for the barbecue are in the hands of the Forster brothers, which insures the success of that feature of the occasion. Ample amusements will be provided, and it is a foregone conclusion that the day will be crowded with pleasure.

Personal
Mrs. E. E. McDowell and Mrs. Hilda McDowell who have been guests of their sister, Mrs. G. P. Hill, for the past ten days, have gone to Los Angeles for a visit with their brothers, Messrs. G. F. and C. A. Axelson, until Saturday next. They will then leave for their home at Hemet.

Howard Martin, formerly of Santa Ana, but recently of Los Angeles, is here today visiting friends. Mr. Martin leaves in a few days for his home near Monmouth, Illinois, after having spent a year in California. He intends to make an extended trip through the Northwest and Canada, stopping at a number of different places.

Mrs. J. W. Shaul is expecting as guests from Oleana, New York, Mrs. Wm. Hutchins and daughter who will arrive here this evening.

Rev. E. R. Geyer and his father, A. R. Geyer, who have been visiting the family of E. W. Smith of Santa Ana, left today for their home in Hiawatha, Kansas. They were accompanied by Miss Fern Smith, who will visit for several months in Hiawatha.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Shaw and daughters, Margery and Carol, leave Friday for a four days' outing in Ladd's Canyon. They are anticipating a most delightful time. Miss Faith Shaw will go to Long Beach during their absence.

Miss Lida Covert came up from Balboa beach yesterday afternoon for a visit with the Misses Tiede.

Mrs. F. P. Claycomb and Miss Robie Jones are at Laguna Beach this

DAINTY LUNCHEON

Mrs. Clark Honor Guest at a
Function Given by Club
Members Yesterday

Mrs. J. I. Clark, who is planning an eastern trip in the near future, was the guest of honor at an informal but delightful luncheon given yesterday by the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club, to which she belongs.

The luncheon, served at one o'clock, was given at the home of Mrs. Maurice Yarnell on West Fourth street. The table was tastefully decked with the lovely purple asters that are claiming attention just now. Sprays of delicate fern supplemented the floral decorations of house and table. Covers were laid for Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Yarnell, Mrs. W. A. Huff, Mrs. Parke Roper, Mrs. J. D. Thomas, Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. L. A. Collier and Miss Bernice Sentney. A pleasing feature of the affair was the presentation to Mrs. Clark by each lady of some convenience for traveling, thoughtful bits of remembrance that were greatly appreciated by the to-be traveler.

The afternoon was given over to bridge, Miss Bernice Sentney having high score and winning the club prize.

Mrs. Clark leaves for the East one week from tomorrow and is of course anticipating a pleasant visit.

Rebekah Convention
The annual convention of District No. 50 of Rebekah Lodges, I. O. O. F., is being held in Odd Fellows Hall today. It is an all-day meeting, and the delegates and visitors had a sumptuous dinner in the banquet hall.

Mrs. Ada Madison, of Los Angeles, Past President of the Assembly, is instructor of the convention. The convention hall and banquet rooms are beautifully decorated with flowers and about 150 people are present.

The district comprises Santa Ana, two lodges, Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Westminster, Whittier and Orange.

Barbecue for Elks
Lively interest is being manifested in the coming barbecue picnic to be held by Santa Ana lodge of Elks, at Serra, on San Juan-by-the-Sea, on Sunday, Aug. 25. The barbecue is to be under the auspices of the lodge, and by courtesy of the Forster brothers of San Juan Capistrano, whose reputation for hospitality is too well known to need further comment.

Arrangements for transportation are being made by the committee in charge both by rail and by auto, and ample opportunity will be afforded the members to attend. A special car will probably be attached to the Santa Fe train leaving Santa Ana at 10:19 a.m. and arriving at Serra at 11:05. The train will pick up passengers at Fullerton, Anaheim and Orange. Santa Ana Auto Club Starts
For Pleasant Pasear to Oceanside

With about twenty machines in line, the second monthly run of the Santa Ana Automobile Club started from in front of the City Hall at 8 o'clock this morning, Oceanside being its destination.

Fred Ross, driving a Stutz car, led the procession, and carried representatives of the local press. It was planned to take an easy pace, which all the cars could maintain without difficulty. At Oceanside, according to the program, a basket lunch was to be enjoyed and the day spent there as the members of the party saw fit. The return will be made so as to reach Santa Ana before dark this evening.

While the party taking part in this run was not nearly so large as that on the first one, the interest manifested in the trip was such as to give evidence that these monthly runs will prove popular features.

As immediate relief, attorneys handed him a draft for $3000 when they presented him with the letter containing news of his good fortune.

Spencer's uncle accumulated a fortune in Ohio. His only relatives were a brother and "a nephew out West." Before he died he made a will dividing his fortune equally between them.

HAY SCARCE IN EL CENTRO—LIVESTOCK INCREASES THERE

EL CENTRO, Aug. 14.—From every quarter of the valley comes the report that the hay supply is very low for this season, and in spite of the great quantity of corn now growing, to supplement the regular supply of feed, and in spite of the increased acreage of 20,000 acres of alfalfa in the last year, there is danger of livestock being caught short in the fall.

This condition is so marked that every effort will be made to get barley into the ground early, that barley pasture can be supplied as quickly as possible.

This condition is due to the great increase in the number of head of livestock in the valley, the increase in this respect offsetting the great increase in production of feed.

WILL CARRY FULL STRENGTH

Fullerton Progressives to Meet
Friday Night to Organize and Elect Officers

Fullerton Tribune: The organization of a Progressive party club was started Monday in Fullerton with the circulation of membership lists by C. A. Campbell, one of the most ardent of Roosevelt and Johnson boosters.

The Progressives will hold a meeting in the Bank hall Friday night, opening about 8 o'clock, to discuss the organization and elect temporary officers. There will be speakers on the program.

The main purpose of the club will be to work for the election of the Roosevelt-Johnson ticket, and it may endorse candidates for the assembly, state senate and for congress.

What action will be taken along that line will be determined at the meeting Friday night.

From the results in the preferential primary, in which Roosevelt carried this city, the leaders in the forming of the club believe that its membership will be large.

What per cent of those who favored Roosevelt in the primary will now align with the new movement remains an open question. The Progressives are confident that the full strength will be enlisted.

It is evident that there is going to be a considerable percent of silent vote in this campaign, especially in the September primary.

Progressive clubs are being formed in every city in the county, and the campaign from now on will be waged with increasing spirit.

So far the Taft Republicans have outlined no campaign here. The regular organization, however, which was formed before the late unpleasantness, is still officially extant.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS BEING GUARDED AGAINST BY CITIES

Long Beach and Riverside Forbid Children in Public Places—Believed Cats Carry Dread Disease

LONG BEACH, Aug. 14.—Despite the strong protests made by Pike concessionaries the city council at an adjourned meeting yesterday morning passed an emergency ordinance preventing children under the age of 15 from attending any of the amusement places in the city or attending school or Sunday school or private picnics and parties.

Dr. A. H. Hamman of the board of health in reply to the protest of the Pike concessionaries, referred to the recent meeting in Los Angeles of every city between San Diego and Santa Barbara, and said that every step to safeguard against the mysterious disease was advised. He also said that in all the cities represented Santa Barbara, Long Beach and Santa Ana were the only cities free from the malady and that emergency laws were being adopted by all cities.

RIVERSIDE GETS AFTER DISEASE IN EARNEST

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 14.—Following the example of other cities in Southern California where efforts are being made to stamp out infantile paralysis, the Riverside Board of Health has taken measures to prevent the disease getting a foothold here.

An order has been issued forbidding children under 15 years of age to congregate in parks or other public places, to enter any playhouse, public park or swimming pool, or to attend Sunday school or church services. The suggestion is even made that parents see to it that there are no gatherings of children at their homes. The police will be instructed to disperse gatherings of children on the streets.

This city has but three cases of the dread malady, and these have been quarantined.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS TRACED TO HOUSE CATS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 14.—The officials of the Springfield Health Department believe that they have traced the source of poliomyelitis popularly known as infantile paralysis, to common house cats. The department has discovered well-developed cases in cats and will send a number of them to Boston for observation by experts. The fly has been held responsible for poliomyelitis contagion but the health authorities believe that the burden will be shifted to the house cat.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN WILL GO AFTER DEER

The open season for deer began today, and several local parties have started out or will start this afternoon in order to get the first chance at the sport. The county clerk's office, however, has had no appreciable increase in the demand for hunting licenses. A party consisting of Henry Belt, Roy Hooper and Albert Englehart, all of Santa Ana, will start this afternoon for the northern party of the San Fernando valley on a several days' hunt.

TALK HIGHWAY CLEAR TO CANADA

Firm in the belief that in the very near future, the national government will see its way clear to give definite aid to the improvement of certain through lines of highway, many influential motorists in the Atlantic Coast States have enlisted under the banner of the International Highway Association, to secure early attention for a route from Miami, Florida to Montreal, Canada.

The association has been hard at work for several months. Its latest measure has been to formally challenge the trip of the first car which has ever covered the route. The story of the trip is now being completed for use in the association's campaign.

Originally it had been intended to explore the route with a party of four cars. This quartet left Miami together June 19, but found terrific going, as soon as Palm Beach had been passed. Record rains had flooded the Florida swamps and the bog holes were almost impassable to heavy, high-powered cars. Singly those of them gave up the battle, one only continuing. This was a Studebaker "20," owned and driven by C. J. Martin, a Miami real estate dealer.

Mr. Martin's car splashed along steadily. At times the water was above his running boards for miles at a time. Fish wiggled along in the wake of the car and alligators poked out their long snouts to watch the unusual sight. At times shell roads gave a pleasant variety, but not until Southern Georgia was reached, did the going show permanent improvement.

Mr. Martin's Studebaker "20" was over the Blue Ridge of Southern Virginia in a downpour similar to that which came so near annihilating last year's Glidden tour, but emerged unscathed on the Shenandoah Pike—the "Road of a Thousand Toll Gates." Thence the route led through Philadelphia, New York, Albany, and along Lake George and Lake Champlain to Plattsburg. The frontier was crossed near Rouse's Point from which the route led to Montreal over a fine new road, built by the Canadian government.

At Plattsburg, the crew of the car was warmly received by President Hadley and other members of the International Highway Association. Montreal also tendered an enthusiastic welcome.

The trip of 2301 miles consumed 19 running days, which could have been cut materially, had the roads been in even normal shape. Mrs. Martin and A. J. Sheldon of Miami were with Mr. Martin all the way. Two tire punctures caused the only delay for repairs and Mr. Martin's proudest boast is based on the fact that the entire trip was made with no extraneous help to the busy motor under the hood.

Mr. Martin is now starting his return trip, which will be made by way of Detroit, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

MAY ACHIEVE "FOOL PROOF" LOCOMOTIVE

Welshman Experiments With Engine That Will Discover Perils of Track It is to Traverse

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A "fool-proof" locomotive is being experimented with by A. R. Angus of New South Wales, at Watchet, Somersetshire.

There are no "up" or "down" distance signals on the line. The engine takes up electrical messages from the rails as it travels along, and each locomotive has what might be called an "electrical brain."

The mechanism of the locomotive will determine for itself whether it is safe or not to enter each section of the journey. If the section is not clear, the driver receives a signal, and if he fails to act on this the engine shuts off its own steam and applies the brakes, and also, by electrical communication, prevents any other train from approaching it too closely.

Expresses are expected to be able to run at their limit of speed through dense fogs and be absolutely protected from all risk of collision; and the train is fully safeguarded, though the driver, stoker and guard should all be incapacitated.

The system will also greatly reduce running expenses.

TRIED OUT BIG NEW GUNS

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 14.—The fifth and eighth companies, coast artillery, yesterday fired four shots with ten-inch guns at Battery Wilkeson, Fort Rosecrans, over a five mile range. The practice was preliminary to test shots to be fired today. This is the first time the coast artillery has actually fired service shots with the big guns. The shots are said to have been remarkably close.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The varieties of melons which are coming into the market this year is astonishing and has created a big demand for something different in the melon line by the general public. The casaba melons, which, in the past have been plain casabas, have branched out into four or five varieties, the most striking of which has been given the name of Turkish casaba, because of a skin that rivals the Turkish towel in texture. Then there is the Christmas casaba, a cross between the Christmas melon and the casaba. The rose casaba is another one of the line. All of these varieties have come from the crossing of different strains of the cantaloupe and the casaba, giving the former the size and taking from it the peculiar flavor of the variety and also the texture of the meat. The melons are very large and weigh up to six and eight pounds, equaling in size the watermelon. They sell from 3 to 3 cents a pound. The cantaloupe family is also numerous in its varieties. The Paul rose is the latest to arrive. It has a dark green exterior and a rich deep orange yellow meat which is far more sweet than the average cantaloupe. The price on this variety was from $1.00 to $1.15 on the standard crate. Ordinarily cantaloupes sold for $1.00 per lettuce crate.

Other fruits were plentiful and prices generally unchanged. The demand for delicious varieties was good and Nectarines in particular call. They sold as low as 85 cents per lug box on the locals and those from the north brought a trifle better figure. Receipts of apples were light, only twelve boxes being reported in by rail.

Staples were without feature. The demand for eggs was fair and some eastern stock was reported coming in to the market for storage. It is just about time for the storage stock to start again after the summer lapse, eggs going into the coolers in spring and fall. Receipts of local stock yesterday totaled 127 cases.

Butter receipts were 65,184 pounds. The demand for butter was light at the increased quotations and trading on the street was nearer the old figures than those just made. Cheese arrivals were 2765 pounds. The call for cheese was confined to eastern twins which sold at 17 and eastern long-horns which sold at 18, both to arrive. Spot stock of eastern daisy was held at 19¢.

The potato market was unchanged and movement rather sluggish. The heavy receipts from the north are in a number of instances still standing on the tracks. Yesterday 1048 sacks were reported in. Onion arrivals were 13 sacks. Bean receipts totaled 28 sacks and 77 sacks of outside sweet potatoes were received.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

PAID FINES
OF $30 EACH

Newport Beach Gondola, Man and Companion Were Caught With the Goods

John Scarpa, the Newport Beach "Gondola Man", and G. Reymonda paid fines of $30 each in Justice Cox's court this morning on the charge of having in their possession a larger amount of cockles than is allowed by law.

The Newport Beach officers have been after Scarpa and his associates for some time, being convinced that they were regularly in the business of shipping cockles, which itself is a violation of the law. The men have been in the habit of making frequent trips to Los Angeles, carrying one or more suit cases each time, and conductors on the car line have stated that frequently it was all one man could do to lift one of the cases.

Yesterday morning City Marshal Porter, of Newport Beach, and a deputy laid in wait for Scarpa and Reymonda as they were coming in with the gondola. When the men saw the officers they dumped three barley sacks into the bay, but these were ashed up at low tide by Harold Cook, and were found to contain about 170 pounds of cockles. The legal limit is twenty-five pounds in one day.

When the men were arraigned before Justice Cox this morning they secured Attorney Davis to defend them, but after a consultation decided to enter pleas of guilty. Fines of $30 were assessed on each man, and were promptly paid.

Settled by Marriage
Herah Melink, formerly proprietor of a notion store in the Gilmacher block, settled a charge of non-support brought against him by the woman who had for years lived as his wife by being married this morning in American fashion. Some time ago the woman, who gave her name to Clerk Williams as Sara Michelahon, brought a charge of non-support against Melink, but it could not be made to hold owing to the fact that, as was developed by investigation, the couple had been married in Russia by mutual agreement. The district attorney's office took the matter up and advised that it be settled by a legal marriage, and this morning the couple secured a license and were married by Justice of the Peace Cox.

POLY HIGH
BONDS SOLD

Buyers Agree to Take Matured
Coupons, and Put Up
$206,194

The $200,000 bond issue for the Santa Ana Polytechnic High School was turned over to the buyers this afternoon by County Treasurer Joplin, who received in exchange checks totaling $206,194.40. This closes the last chapter in a transaction which has been fraught with many difficulties.

For several days H. C. Rogers, representing Blymyer & Company, the bond buyers, had been here endeavoring to wind up the transaction. The only hitch was in regard to the coupons which became due July 1, after the bonds had been sold, but before delivery had been made. It was held by the district attorney that it was necessary for the buyers to take the bonds with these coupons attached, and then collect the interest from the county. This formality was due to the fact that the proceeds of the bonds go into one fund, while the interest comes out of another. There will be no funds available to pay the coupons until the new tax money comes in next December, and for this reason the buyers did not desire to take them.

G. C. Blymyer, head of the bond firm, was here today to close up the deal. After a lengthy consultation it was decided that the company should take the bonds with the coupons attached, and then either hold the latter until December or take a county warrant for the amount. The coupons, amounting to $5000, will draw interest until paid.

This afternoon the bonds were turned over and the money paid. The accumulated interest since July 1 amounted to $1194.40, making the total interest $6194.40. The Orange County Savings & Trust Company furnished San Francisco exchange for $200,144.55, one of the largest transactions which has ever been made here, and the remainder was in other paper provided by the buyers.

County Auditor Lester today made a report to the State Board of Equalization showing the total assessed valuation of property in Orange county, including railroad and other public service corporations, to be $44,526,688. The value of non-operative property, on which alone the county can collect taxes, is shown to be $38,497,040.

Post of Adviser to Chinese Ruler
Said to Have Been Offered to Minister to Turkey

LONDON, Aug. 14.—China, the Peking correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph says he understands, has offered the post of adviser to the new government to William Rockhill, the American ambassador to Constantinople, who it is stipulated, would not be affected by the political conditions surrounding the new republic.

The Chinese newspapers suggest, the correspondent telegraphs, that Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, the retired British naval commander, be appointed naval adviser to the Chinese government.

Mr. Rockhill served as American minister to China, from 1905 until 1909, when he was appointed American ambassador to St. Petersburg. He was transferred to his present post at Constantinople in April, 1911.

City Trustees Take Steps to Battle With Disease—Marshall's Salary Raised

Orange News: While some folks are standing "at Armageddon" and doing more or less "battling for the Lord," the city trustees are going to stand behind the board of health and do a little battling for the public health. Last evening they instructed the marshal to notify occupants of buildings on alleys within two blocks all directions from the Plaza to clean up the alleys and keep them clean. They signified their intention to back the board of health in measures necessary to observe the public health, by enforcing cleanliness and requiring sanitary conditions.

Dr. Dommann, city health officer, in consonance with the recommendations of a meeting of physicians in Los Angeles Saturday evening, took up several matters of sanitation with the trustees. Although there has been no case of infantile paralysis reported here since the beginning of the epidemic through the south, strenuous measures are to be adopted to prevent the disease from securing a foothold, it being the belief of the board of health that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Dr. Dommann had several requests to place before the trustees. The first was that the open vaults of outhouses in the sewer district be banished, because such places are a lair for disease germs. He said that such vaults were being used in some cases, despite the fact that sewer connections have been made. Although the city is particularly fortunate at this time in having a good sewer system, these vaults continue to be a menace to public health.

City Attorney Brown advised him that the board of health has power to abate any particular menace of nuisance and need no further authority, but the trustees said they would back up any necessary measure.

Dr. Dommann then asked that an order be issued for general cleaning up of alleys suggesting that closed containers for garbage be used by householders and the keeping clean of the alleys once they are cleaned. He urged that care be exercised in burning papers that they are not allowed to blow about the street. He also urged a campaign on the flies as a necessary sanitary precaution against the spread of disease. Fly-traps set in front of doors and baited has done much he said to make Riverside almost a flyless town, and would be of great value here.

The board instructed the marshal to order the cleaning of alleys, and the police committee was instructed to see that they are kept clean.

The first protest against paving plans to come before the board was a remonstrance by residents of East Chapman against the extension of the paving beyond Grand street. The remonstrance was presented by Q. B. Farwell.

Marshal Warner's salary will be raised from $70 to $80 per month. The board decided the popular officer is entitled to a raise, owing to the dangerous character of his duties, and the fact that he is city tax collector as well as marshal. Wheeler moved the amendment of the salary ordinance to make the salary $80 and Stoner seconded. The city attorney will present the amended ordinance at the next meeting.

Largest Crop in History of State
Being Harvested—Acreage
Has Increased

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 14.—The largest almond crop in the history of the state is now being harvested, according to the California Almond Growers Exchange. The almond harvest this season has just commenced, and the crop will exceed that of 1910, a banner year that witnessed a crop of 3000 tons, valued at $750,000. The increase is due to increased acreage in bearing and the fact that there was little severe weather.

so far not denied her alleged threat to Holland to build a canal from the German Rhine to the North sea, so it remains to be seen whether it is all a piece of bluff or a serious proposition that is meant to be pushed regardless of the toll question.
If Germany's motives are purely economic, the canal from Cologne to Eindhoven can be constructed, at an enormous cost, but Germany has never begrudged the money for waterways. If her motives are political,

then pressure will be brought on Holland, even if she assents to the charging of tolls on the Rhine traffic.
In the latter case an acute stage will be reached when Germany establishes a toll collection station in Germany, which Great Britain will recognize as a formidable menace to herself.
